REB RUSSELL AND RUPE BENTON WOULD BE GOOD PITCHING DUEL

White Sox Southpaw and ex-Cincinnati Red Figure to Put Up a Sterling Battle and Fans Would Get Their Money's Worth; Both Are Southpaws and Use a Similar Style in Delivering the Ball.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Reb Russell is a greater pitcher than he is given credit for being by most writers. He had lost only four games and won 15 for the Sox up to Sept. 15. He looks to have a shade on Peritt, though comparing right and left handers is a touchy business. Faber and Williams and Sale and Benton remain, and they furnish a pretty fair standard for each other. That right and left handers will be opposed in the coming series seems certain.

The White Sox are practically sure to start with Cicotte, while McGraw may yet choose Schupp and may save Peritt for the second game. What these pitchers will do remains to be seen, and if the outstanding work of the rivals will help you decide it out here to it. Here are the figures:

Note—This table shows the best work of Giant and White Sox pitchers up to September 15.

WHITE SOX.
No-Hit Game—Cicotte vs. St. Louis, April 11, 11 to 0.
One-Hit Game—Cicotte vs. Washington, July 17, 5 to 0.
Two-Hit Game—Faber vs. Detroit, April 14, 4 to 0; Cicotte vs. New York, May 13, 1 to 0.

Three-Hit Game—Cicotte vs. Philadelphia, June 2, 4 to 0; Bens vs. Washington, July 18, 4 to 0.
Shut-Out Game—Cicotte vs. St. Louis, April 11, 11 to 0; New York, May 13, 1 to 0; Philadelphia, June 2, 4 to 0; Washington, July 17, 5 to 0; Cleveland, August 27, 5 to 0; Cleveland, September 3, 2 to 0.
Russell vs. Washington, May 24, 1 to 0.

RACE MEETINGS ARE NOT ON CARD

It begins to look as if there will be no winter race meetings in this country next winter.

The sport at New Orleans seems to have died a natural death, due to the successful crusade against the fair circuit, and the fact that the season has been closed, while there will be no racing at Hot Springs until some time in the fall.

It is expected that the sport will be revived in the latter part of December, January and February. Plans have been laid for a campaign to cover a period of 25 days.

DOPING OUT THE WORLD'S SERIES

Zimmerman Outclassed by Buck Weaver When It Comes Down to Playing Good Solid Baseball and Adding Strength to Team, Says Hugh.

THE THIRD BASEMAN. Offensive Defensive Total
Value Value Value
Chicago..... 136 251 2148
New York..... 251 251 2148

It is where the big argument starts. Admirers of the great Zimmerman will rise up on their hind legs and howl when they see the figures that prove beyond doubt that Buck Weaver is a better third baseman for the purposes of this series than the ex-Cub, now Giant, is. Yet he is.

To tell the truth, I started compiling figures on the third basemen who are to engage in the world's series with a certain bias. I wanted to show Zimmerman the better man. Instead, they persisted in turning to Weaver—on inside bases, probably because he has been playing on the inside bases, and on the other points of the defensive work. At least the figures show the two men rating close together, and the dope, compared with my dope of two years ago, and the fact that Weaver has been playing on the inside bases, and on the other points of the defensive work. Who's Who In World Series

BY JACK VEROCK.

HAIRY LEIBOLD, White Sox Outfielder.
LITTLE NEMO LEIBOLD is another ex-Cleveland player who has made good with the White Sox, but unlike Joe Jackson and Chick Gandil, the little Hooter has to prove his ability, for when he was taken on by the Sox the Indians were ready to send him to the minors.

Cleveland asked for waivers on Leibold in the early part of the 1913 season, and manager Dowland picked him up at the waiver price. Rowland needed an experienced outfielder and Leibold filled the bill in this regard. He has been playing in the White Sox garden, Cleveland, since he was taken on by the Sox, and he has made good, for he is a fielder of better than average ability, is fast on the bases and has a habit of getting himself on the bags via the four-ball route because he is a hard man to pitch to.

As a hitter he ranks with the boys who hang the pill around 250, yet in the coming world series Little Nemo may surprise everybody by being the star, for it is often the unheralded player who shines, just as Hank Gowdy did in 1914. Leibold's chance is as good as any.

Leibold was born at Bentley, Ind., in 1882, and he is one of the smallest men playing in the big leagues today. He stands only five feet five inches tall and weighs but 125 pounds.

He started playing professional ball in his teens, and rapidly forged his way to the front. In 1911, he was signed by the Milwaukee Brewers, but the pitching in the American association that year had his goat, and in 88 games he hit only 112. The following year, however, he found his batting eye, and he slugged the ball at a .246 clip. In the draft of 1912 he was awarded to Cleveland, coming up as a player with utility prospects, because of the fact that he has played both the infield and the outfield at Cleveland.

From the start of the 1913 series, until he went to Chicago by the waiver route, Leibold stuck with the Forest City team, and he has proved himself a valuable asset to the White Sox, and manager Rowland has nothing but praise for his work.

CLARK GRIFFITH PLACES AN ORDER
Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—Contract for $25,000 worth of baseball equipment for immediate delivery were awarded here Wednesday to four sport goods firms by Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Americans, and director of the soldiers' league.

Griffith explained that the equipment will be divided between the sixteen nation army cadets and the sixteen national guard camps. Griffith already has been provided for the soldiers in France. Additional funds for equipping the soldiers are necessary, Griffith said.

TEXAS LEAGUE IS HAVING A TIME
The Texas league without a problem is chaffing at the bit without the peppers. The latest one is regarding the Houston team, which is supposed to settle themselves for a fall and winter of call and recall in this matter. Needing settlement as soon as possible, the circuit matter is not unlikely to hang over until the spring breeze blows.

SOME CHEAP ADVERTISING.
New York, Sept. 27.—A President Hemphreys of the New York National league club, announced Wednesday that he had decided to suspend the captain Charles Herron of the Giants, had been lifted and that he would play in the world's series.

CICOTTE IS STRONGER HURLER THAN FERDIE SCHUPP OF GIANTS

Former Boston Pitcher and Star of Chicago Staff Has Edge on Young Rival According to Figures of Experts; Cicotte Has Been in Game for a Much Longer Time and Has Advantage Over the Youngster.

By JACK VEROCK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Though it is impossible to determine what the White Sox and Giant pitchers will do in the world's series, their performances during the past season offer interesting comparisons because they will be pitted on the mound in the big classic.

Trying to dope out which is the stronger staff in a short series of games is inconsistent, as the writer has mentioned previously, but on the season's showing in their own leagues the dopest may draw conclusions. First of all, it seems probable, in the opinion of the writer, that the White Sox have had the strongest opposition. They have fought their way to a pennant by beating off three strong American league rivals—the Red Sox, Indians and Detroit Tigers—while the Giants have had only the Phillies to face.

Clarence Rowland's athletes have had the hardest row to hoe. In Boston, Cleveland and Detroit they had opponents well worthy of their metal, for all three of these teams have dangerous batmen in their line-up, and especially Detroit, and as a rule they play a tighter all-around brand of baseball than most of the National league teams.

The White Sox pitchers have also found plenty of opposition on the mound. The great Boston staff is still great. Ruth, Leonard, Mays and Foster, not to mention Shore, are mighty over-pitchers all the time, and they have made Chicago's burden heavy. Bagby and Coveleskie, of the Indians, two great pitchers, while Holman, James and Daus, of the Tigers, are not to be sneezed at by any team which has a pitcher's arm.

The Giants, on the other mitt, have had the easiest row to hoe. In the season in both leagues, Faber is a great pitcher, while Russell and Williams are second only to Ruth and Leonard in the American league, and when one says "is the American league" he is saying something.

Schupp has been the Giant's big gun, yet Joe Burritt is a more dependable pitcher and much steadier than the young southpaw. Burritt and Saline, with Schupp and Peritt, will do the work on the mound for McGraw this fall.

It is the opinion of the writer that Cicotte is head and shoulders above Schupp. He is a veteran of long experience and as a cool head he is, Cicotte is a head and shoulders above Schupp, a sensational though he is, Cicotte is a head and shoulders above Schupp, a sensational though he is, Cicotte is a head and shoulders above Schupp, a sensational though he is.

WESTONITES LEAD CITY LEAGUE IN HITTING BIG LEAGUE

ONE good result that the recent report of the Weston team has done, aside from landing them in second position in the league, is according to official dope issued by M. M. Coyne, the luncheon man, that the Weston team is in a position where so few chances to show that ability are offered. However, as the numerous errors chalked up against the Weston team, proof of the poor work of the players during the earlier games of the season, has placed them in the cellar, in the defensive department, just three points below the lowly Norton Book.

The Weston players are 22 points ahead of the Norton Book in hitting, while the Norton Book is 22 points below the Weston team in the defensive department.
